

Announcements from Gifu Prefecture

August, 2020

This Month's Highlights

The Smart Agriculture Promotion Center Has Opened

In March 2019, Gifu Prefecture developed the "Gifu Prefecture Smart Agriculture Promotion Plan". As a part of this plan, we are pursuing the following objectives.

- Increasing the scope of operations with a small workforce
- Making agricultural work easy for anyone to carry out, regardless of number of years of experience
- Increasing crop yields and making high-quality production and value-added agriculture a reality

Visitors to the Smart Agriculture Promotion Center can experience the convenience of model greenhouses and view exhibits of the latest machinery. The Center also collects data from demonstration farms across the prefecture in order to research the best cultivation methods.

※A reservation is required in order to visit.

Information about various training seminars will be publicized by the Regional Agriculture and Forestry Offices.

※We are currently operating with reduced staff numbers.

What is Smart Agriculture?

Agriculture which uses ICT and Robotics

Smart agriculture uses the latest technologies such as ICT and robotics to rapidly advance farm management. Labor-saving innovations such as using driverless tractors and drones, as well as AI analysis of farm data to allow automatic irrigation and fertilizing, make it possible to produce tasty and high quality agricultural products.
