"6th Wave State of Emergency Measures" (Extract)

January 17, 2022 COVID-19 Infection Measures Headquarters Gifu Prefectural Government Implementation Period: From January 17 through February 18, 2022

Currently, infections, especially among young people, are spreading rapidly at an unprecedented rate during the three-day weekend, especially during meals related to the coming-of-age ceremony. Therefore, we will further strengthen our countermeasures.

[Thoroughly observe infection prevention measures]

- Avoid "non-urgent and unnecessary travel between prefectures" as much as possible, including regions of expanding infection such as special measures districts, etc.
- Refrain from going to crowded places or places with high risk of infection.
- Avoid eating with people you don't normally meet with, including at home, and/or eating with a large number of people and/or for a long time. (Up to 4 people, 2 hours or less as a guideline)

[Gifu Prefectural Government requested the national government to designate Gifu Prefecture as the special measures district to prevent the further spread of infection]

- The following measures will be implemented after designation;
 - * Targeted areas: all 42 municipalities
 - * Shortening of operating hours until 8:00 p.m. at places serving food and beverages, etc. and suspension of the serving of alcoholic beverages in the targeted areas.
 - * Refrain from randomly going to places serving food and beverages after 8:00 p.m. in the targeted areas.

[Corresponding policies at school]

- Strengthening of infection prevention measures at school
 - If even one person in the class is found to be positive, close the entire class immediately.
 - If even one member of the club is found to be positive, suspend club activities immediately.

The number of new cases per 100,000 people (rolling 7-day total) and countermeasures taken by the prefecture
